Seven acres of fine clover went flat and several more of sweet corn was washed out. He estimates his loss at least $500. Without spending time among his friends whining over the disaster, he started out Monday to cover the southern part of the county and offer cheer to many farmers who have lost practically all crops in the freshet.

PUBLIC SAFETY MEASURES

The Red Cross Drive

Last week saw the conclusion of a most notable campaign, the drive for two billion dollars by the American people. It will be recorded in history how nobly America responded. In promoting the mighty over-subscription, Norway and other towns of modest population greatly exceeded their allotments. The result is a terrible blow to the hopes of Wilhelm, the Assassin.

This week saw the commencement of another notable campaign, undertaken in behalf of the noblest institution ever born of war's savagery. And, as it should be, this imperious demand for humane treatment of the wounded and the prevention of disease, originated in the United States of America, the country that has never initiated a war except in behalf of the oppressed, nor waged war except for righteousness.

Red Cross Dividends

Those who contributed to the Liberty Loan will receive their money back, plus interest. Self preservation demanded the people give the money if need be, but this sacrifice was not necessary, and the investment is the best in the world till one equally as good presents itself.

Such another, "equally as good," is now before the people—the drive for one hundred million dollars for the use of the American Red Cross Fund, and for the benefit of every starving, ailing or wounded man, woman and child in this and the countries of our allies, where the hurt or sickness results from war conditions. Dollars will flow back from investments in the Liberty Loan. From the Red Cross investment will flow mended men from the battlefield, sound men who otherwise would be wasted with disease in war camps, a wholesale alleviation of physical anguish and the maximum of comfort for the wounded.

Norway's Share $3,000

Norway's share of the grand total is $3,000; and Norway must come through with that sum or stand ashamed among her neighbors.

A committee of business and professional men are giving their time and money to make this drive the success that Norway traditions demand. It can not succeed unless every man solicited for subscriptions to this humane, protective and magnificent movement responds.

It is not a charity, unless to save your son or your neighbor's son from wasting disease and a preventable death be charity. It is a duty based on the highest patriotism. Norway citizens have been listed and divided into districts. Before the week closes a tremendous effort will be made to see each citizen personally. If any by accident are overlooked it is their duty as well as privilege, to communicate with either of the following team leaders: A. J. Stearns, Dr. Harry P. Jones, Dr. H. L. Bartlett or Lawrence M. Carroll.

Easy Payments

Subscription cards will be presented if possible to every voter in Norway. The amount of the subscription may be paid in four equal installments, the first payment being due on July 1. There are few, if any, who cannot arrange their finances to meet this obligation placed upon them by the dictates of mercy and patriotism. Remember, the flag over your door will never win the war. Rather, the flag carried to the front by men who are physically fit because of Red Cross precautions. Remember, you have no right to boast along the street that "We can lick 'em," unless some of your dollars are backing up your conversation. Don't ask the Eagle to scream over another man's pocketbook.

If the contributor is not a member of the local Red Cross Society he can have a dollar of his subscription used as dues for annual membership in the same.

Norway must come through with a clean record. The raising of one hundred millions before American troops join the firing line means that every safeguard known to science and medicine has been made for our soldiers. Wearing the national colors in your buttonhole won't prevent typhoid fever, nor furnish anesthetics for a surgical operation. The Red Cross War Fund means that deaths from disease, as in the Spanish-American war and far exceeding the number of deaths from bullets, will be nil. It means sanitary treatment for the wounded and their restoration to health.

Abraham Lincoln's People

Norway must do her part. She will fail if the man on the farm decides it is a matter which does not concern him. She will fail if the man in the village, already worried by the cost of living, quibbles with his duty by saying, "Some other time." The time is now. The need is imperative.

The installment plan makes it possible for all to contribute. Those who have more, are asked to give more. No nation yet was ever saved by the contributions of only those who could give "and not feel it." The Liberty Loan is an immense success because the working man bought lavishly of the small bonds. Had the Liberty Loan been financed by a few of our richest citizens it would have meant nothing to Wilhelm, the Assassin. Contributed by the rank and file of the people, Abraham Lincoln's people, it becomes a terrible menace to the Child Killer.

What is the Verdict?

This fund will prove a heavy blow to the greatest murderer of all times if through it speaks the mighty voice of the plain people. Large cities will raise millions, but the success of the campaign pivots on the thousands of smaller centers, such as Norway.

Three thousand dollars before Sunday.

We are at war with the most terrible foe known to history.

We win or lose according to the manner the thousands of towns, such as Norway, respond to the call of duty.

The cities cannot save the nation.

The cities and towns can.

Don't spend eternity regretting the few dollars you thought you were saving by refusing to contribute.

Thre thousand dollars from Norway is worth three thousand fighting men in a crisis.

It's up to you, Neighbor. You are one of the jurors before whom is being tried the case of the People of the United States against Wilhelm, the Assassin.

Norway awaits your verdict.

The Sunday rain washed the Paris roads badly, making travelling impossible over several sections. A dozen teams and twenty men have been working this week filling in the gullies and making the highway passable until permanent repairs can be made.

The two squads of Infantrymen from Dover Company guarding the bridge have been removed from tents, and are quartered in cars set on a spur track nearby. A suspicious character hanging around the bridge at a late hour Sunday night was driven away by a pocket flashlight. This occurance started a report later in the week that a guardsman had exchanged shots with an unknown man. One shot was fired on the night in question but only for a signal.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Anderson returned from a two weeks' auto trip to Boston Monday, accompanied by their son's wife, Mrs. H. C. Anderson and two children. Their son, Harold, came as far as Portland with them, but because of the bad traveling, they were obliged to remain in Portland over night and Monday Harold returned to Boston.

Streaked Mountain.

The Jolly Club was entertained by Mrs. Fred Cobett, Thursday afternoon. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Besides the members, there were four visitors present. A very nice time was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bisbee of Norway were at E. H. Maxim's, Tuesday.

The rain took the bridge away between E. H. Maxim's and Carroll King's.

Do you know how—
To find relief from backache;
To correct distressing urinary ills;
To assist weak kidneys?
Your neighbors know the way—
Have used Doan's Kidney Pills;
Have proved their worth in many tests.
Here's Norway testimony.

Mrs. Joseph A. Woods, Bridge St., Norway, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have certainly proven very fine in our family. One of the younger members has been cured of bed-wetting by Doan's Kidney Pills. As for myself, I occasionally use this medicine and always get as prompt and beneficial results today as when I first took them. My confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills is as strong as ever and I gladly give you permission to use my recommendation."

HE GAVE HIS ALL FOR HIS FLAG

The guns will boom upon the bays
And the flags at half mast droop,
When armed guard and firing squad
To solemn music troop.

A rumbling cassion bears the form
Of him who in his pride,
Went forth to serve his country's flag,
And with illness quickly died.

But young Frank West of Sumner
Would not have asked the reason why,
When under dear Old Glory's folds
He would march to do or die.

He was out to serve his Uncle Sam,
So loyal, brave and true,
He gave his all for Uncle Sam,
Just what true Yankees do.

His father and mother mourn their loss
Of a son so faithful and true,—
But he died for dear Old Glory's sake
In his uniform of blue.

Now he is serving in ranks up higher
On the everlasting sod,
And we all shall some day serve there too
In the unbroken ranks of God.

R. D. Churchill.

West Paris, Maine.

We have had the hardest rain storm in this town that we have had for fifty years. Lots of crops are under water and some places will be spoiled. It looks as if but little would be raised this year.

Ties Knot in Pig's Tail

My wife told me that we must have a pig this spring and keep him until late this fall, so when cold winds blow next winter we could stay in the old farm house and eat salt pork and potatoes. When she says anything must be done it is always up to me to get out and hustle until the job is done. After looking around and asking a number of my friends, I got on track of one four weeks old and paid the sum of six dollars for him. (The six dollars would make him an overcoat).

I had a pen fenced with pages wire I took some fine poultry wire and put on the outside of that, fastened it down to the ground, tied a knot in the pigs tail to keep him from getting clear through the wire and dropped him into the pen. I don't think he was used to wire fence by the way he acted, for he started off on the jump, ran into the wire and it knocked him back from where he started from, he did that until his nose got so sore he could not stand it, then he sat down and looked at me, I don't think he liked my looks, for he got up and retired to his sleeping apartment. We have had him two weeks and I think in a week more it will be safe to untie the knot in his tail.

Visits Former Home

J. J. Cobb, M. D. of Berlin, N. H., made us a call recently while driving through town. He will be remembered as the oldest son of Josiah P. Cobb, formerly of Center Lovell, and of a family of three sons and two daughters.

He is the only surviving one of the number. His brother, Henry, died some years since in Portland. His brother, Josiah, died at Burlington, Vt., not long ago. His oldest sister, Mrs. Clara Abbott died last winter very suddenly at her home in Wilder, Vt., and the younger sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Sherburne, who for many years had lived with Mrs. Abbott, died three weeks after the death of Mrs. Abbott.

Dr. Cobb left here about 30 years ago and has been very successful in his profession, and an honor to the town of his birth as have been many others who have left here to make their way in the world.

Rev. George Smith, the pastor of the Congregational church, left here Monday for Little Deer Isle to attend the funeral service of a former parishoner there.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

The meeting of the grange Saturday evening, there was work in the third and fourth degrees. Much interest was manifest in the discussion of the question "Are the schools of to-day more practical than those of thirty years ago?" Considerable time was employed in the talks by various members, some of the younger ones responding to the Lecturer's call.

Gov. Milliken has nominated former Justice Albert M. Spear of Gardiner as an associate justice of the Supreme Judicial Court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chief Justice Albert R. Savage of Auburn. Associate Justice Leslie C. Cornish of Augusta was nominated for Chief Justice. The nominations will come up for confirmation at the session of the Governor and Council, June 25th.

Senator Bert M. Fernald will be a candidate for renomination in the Republican primaries of Maine in June, 1918, to succeed himself.

CHIEF JUSTICE A. R. SAVAGE DIED SUDDENLY

Albert R. Savage, justice of the supreme court since 1897 and chief justice since 1913, died instantly of apoplexy, at his home in Auburn, Thursday morning, June 14th.

Justice Savage had seemed in his usual good health, and in excellent spirits, all through the morning. He ate breakfast and at about 9:30 stepped into the bathroom. His prolonged absence there alarmed members of his family, who made a search, finding he had fallen to the floor.

Dr. D. A. Barrell, a next-door neighbor, was summoned and arrived in a very few minutes, but Justice Savage was past aid. His death must have been nearly, if not quite, instantaneous.

Judge Savage was born in Ryegate, Vt., Dec. 8, 1847, son of Charles Wesley and Eliza M. (Clough) Savage, and graduated from Dartmouth College in 1871. He was married August 17, 1871, to Nellie Hale of Concord, Vt., whose death occurred Aug. 24, 1912.

Immediately after graduation he taught school in Northwood, N. H., and Northfield, Vt., studying law in vacations in the office of Carpenter & Plumley in Northfield.

One of his classmates in college was Liberty H. Hutchinson, who had already come to Lewiston and Auburn, and begun the practice of law. It was through Mr. Hutchinson that Mr. Savage decided to come to Maine and settle. He immediately entered into an office with an established business. Mr. Hutchinson died in 1882, after a long illness, but before his death Mr. Savage had taken his place along with Mr. Hutchinson, and was already distinguished as an attorney.

After the death of Mr. Hutchinson, Henry W. Oakes was admitted to the firm in the name of Savage & Oakes.

In 1881, Mr. Savage was appointed county attorney to fill a vacancy, was elected to the same office in 1882, and became judge of probate, serving in 1885, '86, '87 and '88. This period of his life, from 1880 to 1890, was perhaps the most interesting and joyous of his life. He was making his way as an attorney of State-wide reputation in the trial of causes of increasing importance in all the courts of Maine. He was interested in business enterprises; he was actice in politics; he was a frequent and most successful speaker in political campaign, and especially in the discussion of the fundamental principles of the protective tariff, was considered in days when this was an issue to be perhaps the most forceful advocate of the protective principles of tariff that there was in Maine, outside, perhaps, of a few of the great and accepted leaders of the party.

He was a member of many secret orders and at the head of many of them. For two years he was supreme dictator of the Knights of Honor of the United States, which then numbered 150,000 members.

In 1893 Mr. Savage was Speaker of the Maine House of Representatives.

Judge Savage received the degree of A. M. from Dartmouth in 1874, LL. D. from Bates in 1898 and LL. D. from Bowdoin in 1909.

On Sept. 2, 1914 he married Frances A. Cooke of Weston, Mass., who survives him. A son and daughter of Judge Savage, who arrived at maturity both died some years ago, the son a graduate of Bowdoin college and a young man of great promise distinguished as an athlete and a scholar.

Funeral services were held from the High street Congregational church of Auburn at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, preceded by prayers at the house. Rev. H. P. Woodin of that church officiated and the interment was made at Oak Hill cemetery.

EVERY SICK DAY

Means a Day Lost from Business or Other Usefulness

Not to mention your own misery and the fact, that frequently others are obliged to lose their time in waiting on you when you're sick. The answer is, "Don't get sick." Be careful to eat good plain wholesome food. Let alone rich food, pastry, candy and sweets, anything which you know is hard for you to digest. Chew your food thoroughly, and if very tired, rest a few minutes before eating. Do these things and you will have done a lot towards keeping well.

But if you are suffering from sick headache, nausea, loss of appetite, cold in the early stages, or acid stomach, don't put off taking a small dose of the true "L. F." Atwood's Medicine. Anna Cummings, who was in the C. M. G. Hospital last fall and winter, has so far recovered her health that she has gone to work as general agent for Walter S. Dewey Co. of Philadelphia. She came up to Bethel to graduation exercises of Gould's Academy and then went out to see her brother and sister, D. A. Cummings and Mrs. A. G. Bean and stopped a few days.

Guy Johnson has got a very sore foot and has gone down to Oxford to see his mother, Mrs. Frank Bean.

Charles Marston sawed Abel Andrews' wood pile.

Our selectmen are assessing the taxes. They say that the rate of taxation will be 39 mills on a dollar, I guess the highest it ever was.

Tuesday, the 5th, there were 28 young men between the ages of 21 and 31 years old, who registered for the draft.

Archie Bass who has been to work down to Portland this spring, got back to Albany a few days ago and has gone to work for the Saunders Brothers, formerly of North Waterford. Raymond and Leslie Cummings are both at work in the mill turning dowels. Raymond is driving a big auto truck hauling lumber from one mill to the other. Raymond took his auto back with him. He says he likes the state of Maine best, but he likes the money that he can earn in Vermont.

June 1 and 2 not one-half of the planting and grading done yet in our town, and a large share of the planting that was done early on wet ground now lies under water, and will have to be planted over. It rained here three days and nights and washed the roads badly in some parts of the town. About all the farmers can do the rest of the week will be to cut and peel timber and wait patiently for the land to dry off.

Children's day was observed Saturday at grange hall being the largest crowd ever gathered on Children's Day. Just before noon the grange master formed all of the school children into a line and marched them up to the church and back into the grange hall where the tables were all ready to receive the children. There were about 70 in number after the children got through dinner the rest of the big crowd sat down, probably about 75 in number, and victuals enough left to feed a big crowd.

Lillian Pingree of North Albany was so critically ill she was obliged to leave her school at Bethel and went home. We hear she is more comfortable and some hopes of her life. Her brother, Albert P. Pingree was brought home from the Biddeford Hospital a short time ago and buried at Songo cemetery.

The graduation exercises of Gould's Academy were held at Odeom hall. A number of people from this town went to hear the exercises and liked it very much.

The program in the afternoon at Grange hall was carried out well by the school scholars of our town. The scholars showed by their speaking that their teachers had spent a lot of time with them. Mr. Bennett and wife of Sweden and Riley McKeen and wife of Lynchville were present and many other out of town people. Rev. Eliopoulos of North Waterford and Rev. Charles D. Paul, our new minister, gave us some good music, also made some good remarks. Saturday was a splendid day and everyone seemed to enjoy the occurrence, both young and old. The children played games out on the lawn. There was one sad feature in it, that was the four vacant chairs which were made vacant by the four young soldier boys who enlisted in the Norway Company a short time ago, but the Worthy Master George Cummings wanted them to be remembered by giving each soldier three cheers. The whole crowd joined by giving three rousing cheers for the absent soldiers. It is hoped when the next year rolls around on children's day that our little grange, which now numbers about 60 members, will round up to 100 members or more.

In qualities of steels; in development of design; in accuracy of manufacture, Studebaker could not improve on its construction, even if it manufactured a car to sell for $5000.00.

The weight of the car; the strain of stopping, starting and driving the car; the strain of side-thrust in turning corners at high speed, are all absorbed by the giant strong axle housing, and all of these strains and the weight of the car, are carried on this housing on the Timken bearings.

Junior Volunteer Movement

The following particulars are for the benefit of those not yet familiar with the State supervised Junior Volunteer Movement of Maine.

The purpose of this movement is to discover, enlist and train boys and young men to supply the extra demand for farm labor made necessary through the increased acreage propaganda recommended by the State and Federal governments to provide for the war emergencies.

Young men from sixteen to twenty years of age will be sent out to communities where there is a demand for such help, under adult leadership. These young men have been carefully selected because of their physical fitness, experience, and training; they are morally clean and desirable. Some of them have had experience in farm service, while others have not. It is planned to give instruction in farm service by experienced men before sending them out. Under the competent instruction of the farmer, they should be able to render efficient service.

A limited number of these young men are ready; those that were experienced were kept in training until now. Demands for help will be carefully considered and when possible supplied throughout the summer and fall months.

The leaders will be carefully selected for the work, and their duties will be to adjust all labor difficulties, changes of location, assignments, discipline, collection of wages, etc.

So far as possible the movement contemplate supplying labor for whatever period of time it may be needed. Preference will be given however to the longer term agreements in the interests of efficiency and economy.

A charge of $1 per day for each of the six working days will be made, and it is expected that if they show themselves worthy of more the farmer will recognize this and a satisfactory adjustment be made with the leader. In addition to this the farmer is required to furnish board. The boys will sleep, however, as a rule, in nearby tents, with the leader. The farmer will not be required to pay transportation or other charges.

The young men have been engaged by the State for this service, and as employees of the State will receive their pay through the regular channels. The farmer's agreement is with the State. If for good and sufficient reasons either the farmer or the young man should become dissatisfied with the agreement and it is not possible to adjust the matter satisfactorily, the agreement may be terminated upon reasonable notice by either party.

Further information can be secured by writing to Jefferson C. Smith, Rooms 70-72, State House, Augusta, Me. Post cards for mailing applications for help may be had of the local Committee on Public Safety. See Mr. Yeaton, Robert Seavey, Mr. DeCoster or T. Mundy.

The Sponsors of this movement are John A. Roberts, Commissioner of Agriculture, W. J. Thompson, Master State Grange, Glenn W. Starkey, State Superintendent of Schools, R. P. Mitchell, State Leader Boys' Agricultural Clubs, John E. Bunker, Sec'y Ex. Com. of Public Safety. Jefferson G. Smith, Director-General.

NORTH WATERFORD

Red Cross Relief Corps

On Saturday evening, May 26, a meeting was held at Odd Fellows' Hall for the purpose of organizing an auxiliary at large for Red Cross Relief work. Fifteen members from North Waterford and East Stoneham were enrolled at this first meeting.

On June 9th a second meeting was held at which Mrs. William Jones of Norway gave a very interesting talk, explaining the purpose and methods of Red Cross Relief work, giving many helpful suggestions regarding the work and making very plain the tremendous need at the present time, for everyone to be doing something to help in this great task of supplying the relief equipment which will all too soon be needed for our soldiers. About 45 were present and a deep interest was manifested throughout the evening. Several new members were enrolled and quite a sum of money pledged towards a fund for carrying on the work.

For a time this auxiliary will work in connection with the organization at Norway, until they can get their own supplies and equipment. The work of the auxiliary will consist of making garments for hospital patients, ambulance pillows and such hospital supplies as may be possible.

Ladies are requested to save up all bits of cloth or knitted wear, white or colored, that can be clipped or ravelled into small bits, to be used for the filling of ambulance pillows. Donations of money or cloth are needed. Worn bed or table linen, towels, etc. can all be used to advantage. Donations can be left at Odd Fellows' Hall or with Mrs. Fred Black at North Waterford or Mrs. Chas. Bartlett of East Stoneham.

Maine Automobile Road Book

The Maine Automobile Road Book for 1917, issued annually by the Touring Bureau of the Maine Automobile Association, 12 Monument Square, Portland, Me., is now ready for distribution and the Association feels extremly proud of its sixth annual edition. This year's book numbers nearly 500 pages and is nearly 100 pages larger than the 1916 issue which held the record up to that time.

The scope of the book has been greatly enlarged and it now covers not only Maine completely, but this year it has been enlarged to include also the principal arteries of travel in all of the New England States and all of the main automobile routes in Canada from Montreal away east through Quebec to the provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. The book will carry the tourist from Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, and New York, to Halifax, N S. Its western limit is Albany, N. Y., its southern limit is Washington, D. C., its northwestern limit is Montreal, P. Q., its northern limit is Quebec and the north shore of the St. Lawrence River, and it goes as far east as Halifax and the Land of Evangeline.

The famous Pine Tree Tour is still a feature of the book and it also includes the widely known Ideal Tour. The majority of the routes are given in both directions. The book has 25 city and town street maps, new illustrations, new and complete indexes; and features of special value are the new automobile, fish and game and other important laws enacted by the Maine Legislature which was in session this year. Other features are new maps covering every route in the book. The 1917 volume is handsomely bound in a waterproof cover.

Good teeth are one of the prime requisites for an efficient soldier, but perhaps there is something more than this in mind, when would-be recruits are sent to have their teeth fixed. If they can go through the dentist's hands without a whimper, the presumption is that they would not quail before a "curtain of fire".

Noted Specialist At Howard's All Next Week

Miss Mae Marshall, Boston's celebrated beauty specialist, will be in South Paris all next week, June 25 to 30, at Howard's, the Rexall druggist. There's hardly a paper printed that does not contain all sorts of hints on how to be beautiful, but it's a rare thing to have a real, living beauty specialist come and talk face to face and tell the ladies how it is possible to make themselves most attractive. And who does not want to be so. Thousands of packages of worthless stuff are sold every year to women who buy believing absolutely in the merit of the goods and find it purely a fake, the money wasted and the complexion worse than it was before using. It must certainly be refreshing to have someone who knows just how to come to you personally with just the advice you need and show you how best to make the face attractive and healthy looking. And this is the mission of Miss Marshall. She will go to your home, talk to you and work with you alone or will meet you and your friends together or go to the club or society, any way it is most convenient, and all advice will be entirely free. All she wants is just the appointment beforehand and this may be done through Howard's, the Rexall store. Her success all along the line has been phenomenal. The ladies have been delighted have learned things they never knew before and have very pleasant recollections of the profitable hour or two with this charming lady who possesses all the secrets of a youthful and beautiful appearance. Call up Charles H. Howard Co., 41-2, and tell them when you would like Miss Marshall to meet you. Adv.

LOCAL PICK UPS, ETC.

Sugar Island, Moosehead Lake, Maine, Sunday, June 17, 1917—Bunker Hill Day in Massachusetts and a rainy Sabbath here.

Had I not left Norway I shouldn't have been here. That is self evident. I packed the trunks and looked over the fishing tackle one week ago today—it was then raining and so it is now and may continue for the next eight days as far as I know, but Mother and I are here safely housed watching sea gulls and ducks and listening to the patter of rain drops on the roof.

Both are more or less happy as well as Walter, who steered the "iron monster" up through the log-lands of the Lower Country and was pulled out only once, and that by a Ford and a rope that providentially came along and snaked it back to the streak of mud called road between Dexter and Dover last Thursday afternoon. This was the only delay from Norway to Greenville, 177.7 miles.

Of course we wanted to stop in Dover and visit Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Evans and son, Ora, and see John F. Sprague, the historian and take a peep at the new and unoccupied post office block and fixtures on South street. This we did.

The rain of Friday forenoon gave an excuse for so doing and we almost persuaded Mr. and Mrs. Evans to accompany us "to the height of land" for over Sunday, but Mrs. Evans had something to do about furnishing music for a coming convention and Liston wasn't over enthusiastic about missing Sunday church services and an excellent excuse for not accompanying us was accepted.

Historian Sprague was out of town, but his place was well represented by Judge Edgar Smith, who delights in chronicaling past events and working among the tombstones of the past. I subscribed for the bound volumes of Sprague's Maine History, five in number. The books are carefully indexed and are valuable for reference. Sorry not to meet its editor and congratulate him on the success he is making.

Christopher Gifford of Boston and Cape Cod, Mass., was picked up in Dover and came along and we are now all stalled in the rain and have a good catch of fish ready for shipment.

This oil and varnish peddler is a lucky fellow and would have broke the laws had not his last fish been the big one. I know this as it was brought to camp for general review in its final death gasps. The salmon weighed 5 1-2 pounds, two others 7 1-2 and a 3 1-2 red spot totaling a pound and a half excess of statute limits had they not come from the water as stated above.

Mr. Gifford is a law abiding, luck, wise-guy fisherman. All this happened in Elgin's dooryard in view of the camp I am now occupying. Frank Autcher manned paddle and handled the net.

Elgin has stuck me for a dollar and a half indestructible artificial minnow and when the rain stops I'm to strike out and show it to the fish. The bait pleases me and if silver-sides and red spots don't like it they can let it alone.

Up to this writing I've caught a togue. I don't fish on Sunday when it rains.

Mother and Walter are planning on chasing birds with a camera as soon as the rain ceases.

Monday, the 18th—Mr. Gifford has taken 15 pounds of fish under his arm and left on the 7 o'clock boat for Madison via Rockwood.

Water in the lake has risen nearly 3 inches in the last 48 hours. It was high water mark when I arrived Saturday morning.

Monk-Frost

Alfred Grant Monk of Portland and Fannie Ellen Frost of Norway were married Wednesday, June 20 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Fannie Frost, 38 Paris street, Norway.

The bride was given away by her oldest brother, W. A. Frost of Auburn under an arch of calla lilies, bridal wreath and white lilacs, the double ring service being used by Rev. H. L. Nichols of the Norway Methodist church. The bride wore white crepe de chene with georgette crepe trimings and white tulle veil. She carried white roses.

Clifford Scothorne, a nephew of the bride acted as best man. Florence Scothorne of Portland was the maid of honor and wore white embroidered voile. Myrtle Scothorne of Norway acted as bridesmaid, wearing pink silk with lace trimmings. The flower girl was Rita M. Frost, South Paris, dressed in pink silk. Neal Brown of South Paris, a nephew of the groom and Jessie Noyes, Norway, a niece of the bride, were ring bearers and looked neat in white.

The couple were hurried away in an auto, destination unknown, the bride wearing a blue traveling suit. An unusual cloud of confetti was in evidence as the party started on their honeymoon. They will make their home with the bride's mother after their return.

Many presents were received that included silver, linen and cut glass. A complete carving set was a gift from friends in the stitching room.

Mrs. Monk is the daughter of Mrs. Fannie E. Frost of Norway and has lived in Norway practically all her life. She is employed in the stitching room of the Carroll, Jellerson Shoe Co. and is well known and popular. Mr. Monk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Monk of South Paris, where he lived until securing employment with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. During the past few years he has traveled over the state, but is now permanently located in Portland.

Out of town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Frost, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Scothorne, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Greenlief, Otisfield; Mrs. Rose P. Holt and daughter, Lina, Fairfield; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Gurney and family, Hebron.

The Sunday school officers and teachers of the Universalist Sunday school will meet Saturday afternoon at the home of Supt. Mrs. Eva Kimball, to make plans for the coming year's work. Mrs. D. A. Ball of West Paris will be present. Mrs. Ball is secretary of the Universalist Sunday school association.

An exciting time was had Wednesday afternoon at the Eugene Hayden cottage where the Little Pennesseewassee camp fire girls were camping. Lightning struck a tree about 50 feet from the camp and started a big blaze. These young ladies put into practice their campfire training and formed a bucket brigade and put the fire out before it did much damage. "We want to prove to people," said one of the camp fire girls, "that we camp fire girls do amount to something." Here is a real example of practical work in a time of need.

Jordan-Walker

The marriage of Susie Mae Walker of Portland, a former Norway young lady, and Edgar Wyman Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Jordan of Cape Elizabeth, took place Saturday morning at 10:30 at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Helen S. Walker, on Elm street, Portland. The double ring service was performed by Rev. J. F. Albion, D. D., in the presence of the immediate families of the young people. The rooms were attractively decorated with cut flowers and the ceremony was performed in the living room.

The bride wore a suit of blue silk with hat to match and carried Bride's roses. They left at noon for a wedding trip which will include a visit with relatives in Connecticut and will be at home to their friends at Pond Cove, Cape Elizabeth, after July 15.

Mrs. Jordan will be remembered by many Norway people as clerk at the Thomas Smiley dry goods store here for a number of years previous to her going to Portland to work in the Smiley store there. Mrs. Jordan graduated from the Norway High School in the class of 1909 and has many friends in Norway and South Paris, where she is a frequent visitor.

Ham-Frost

The marriage of Helen Frances Frost and Ernest Marriner Ham took place Wednesday afternoon, June 20 at 3 p. m., at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Chester G. Miller at South. They were unattended. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the immediate members of the family being present.

After the ceremony they went to the home of the bride, where a breakfast was served by Mrs. Roy Frost, a sister. From there they went to Auburn, where they have a suite of rooms ready for occupancy.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Ella Ham and is employed as chauffeur for E. M. Stevens, Auburn, during the summer months and works in Dingley & Foss Shoe Co. factory during the winter.

The bride is the daughter of Roswell Frost and for the past few years, has been in the employ of Dr. J. G. Gehring of Bethel.

The bride and groom were well known here and are receiving the hearty congratulations of all.

Downing-Cameron

Harry Frye Downing of Portland and Vesta Viola Cameron of Fryeburg were married June 18, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Cameron in Fryeburg, Rev. Henry H. Hoyt of the Universalist church using the double ring service.

The bride was gowned in white satin and georgette crepe with pearl trimmings and carried brides roses. A sister, Vera Cameron of Hartford, Conn., acted as bridesmaid and wore yellow silk net with taffeta bodice and bands. The best man was Ralph Kneeland of West Somerville, Mass. A fire place banked with ferns and flowers made a pretty setting for the impressive ceremony.

A buffet lunch was served by the Misses Etta and Alta Cameron and Mary Cornell to the twenty guests. Among those from out of town being George P. Downing and May Downing of Norway; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph P. Kneeland, West Somerville, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Perley Modgett and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bachelder of Conway, N. H.; May Cornell, Orange, Mass.

Mrs. Downing is a graduate of Fryeburg Academy, '08 and has been an assistant in the Fryeburg post office. She is well known in Norway, where she resided nearly two years and entered into the social life of the village.

Mr. Downing is the son of George P. Downing, Norway, a graduate of Norway High school '08 and attended the University of Maine. He is employed as mechanical engineer by the Moulton Engineering Co. of Portland.

The couple left by auto. The bride's traveling suit was a blue serge and black hat. They are occupying Mr. Downing's camp on Lake Pennesseewassee, Norway, during the honeymoon.

Jennie Bates has returned from Richmond, having spent a week there.

Millettville

The Sewing Club gave an ice cream festival to the gentlemen of the club at Mrs. Harry Millett's. It is needless to say there was a full attendance and every one enjoyed the strawberry, vanilla, lemon and coffee ice cream which was served with dainty cake and fruit punch. Some say Frank Millett ate the most, but the majority voted that 'twas a tie between Foster Jackson and Elmer Morrill.

Mrs. Witham on the old Charles Millett farm entertained the Sewing Club last week in a delightful manner with dainty refreshments. The time was devoted to Red Cross sewing for Mrs. Solomon Jackson appeared with a big box of pajamas to be made for the soldiers. It was hard to tell which flew the fastest, the needles in the hands of the industrious workers, their tongues or the wheel of the sewing machine. Anyway, Mrs. Jackson returned the garments to headquarters finished and ordered a new supply of work.

Mrs. Rebecca Hadley entertained the Club the previous week and an enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Mrs. S. I. Jackson held a Red Cross Sewing Bee on Wednesday at her home. About 20 ladies were invited, that is, all who reside in the Crockett Ridge and Millettville Neighborhoods. Much work was accomplished and a vote taken to work together every other Wednesday in a like manner for the cause. Sweets and lemonade were handy to freshen any lagging spirits. The next meeting will be at Heywood Club House.

Everybody who attends will not only have a good time, but feel that they are helping a good cause. If a stormy night, the dance will be postponed until the following Wednesday evening. A large party is looked forward to. The club gave $5.00 to the Red Cross some time ago.

A short time ago Captain Sarah Farnum assisted by her followers Mrs. Eva Jackson, Mrs. Chris Noble, Mrs. Una Jackson, Mrs. Pearl Noble and Mrs. Addie Thurston gave a banquet to Captain Fannie Dinsmore and her followers, Mrs. Addie Young, Mrs. Cora Dinsmore, Mrs. Eva Richardson, Mrs. Imogene Lovejoy, Mrs. Elinor Buck, Mrs. Emma Dunham and Mrs. Eleanor Lovejoy. This paid the contest debt on attendance during the winter. There were as invited guests, Mrs. J. C. Felkner of Canada, Mrs. Lucy Glover and Ruth Holgate. The table was laid for seventeen and tastefully decorated with painted trilliums and Hosea blossoms. The company enjoyed the following menu: cold sliced ham, mashed potatoes, hot rolls, salads, baked beans, brown bread, pickles, mince, apple, lemon, custard and whipped cream pies, assorted cakes, fruit gelatine pudding, coffee and oranges. The Crockett Ridge School furnished music and sang very prettily. They were then provided with the same list of goodies. In all forty-three participated at the feast. TEARS AND LAUGHTER.

God made both tears and laughter, and both for kind purposes, for as laughter enables mirth and surprise to breathe freely, so tears enable sorrow to vent itself patiently. Tears hinder sorrow from becoming despair and madness.—Leigh Hunt.

SUMNER

The community was greatly shocked at the news of the sudden death of Mrs. Arthur Chandler, Saturday last. Mrs. Chandler had seemed to be in her usual health, but died suddenly while preparing dinner.

Observance of Flag Day

Flag day was observed by the teacher and pupils of the Sumner Hill school with appropriate patriotic exercises. The school room was very prettily decorated with ferns, apple blossoms and wild flowers and our flag was conspicuously displayed.

The school work of the children was placed attractively about the walls. The program executed by the pupils was interesting and entertaining to all, consisting of patriotic recitations, readings and compositions. The color bearer of the occasion was young Henry Davenport, the smallest scholar, who was very proud of his ability to carry the flag of his country at the head of the line of children who marched into the schoolroom. The Star Spangled Banner and America was sung by the members of the school, also by the visitors. Much credit is due their teacher, Miss Lois Hollis, who took so much pains to make Flag Day a patriotic occasion for her pupils.

SUCCESSFUL RESULTS FROM LATE PLANTINGS

This wet June will cause a great shortage of vegetables. We must continue to plant right up to the limit and take a chance on a good fall. The following record of late plantings are worth remembering.

Sweet Corn: I planted Golden Bantam corn, June 16, 1916, and canned it September 14. I planted sweet corn June 25, 1916, and canned it September 22. Two acres sweet corn planted for me the last week in June last year were harvested before frost.

Beans—I planted three acres Low's Champion beans June 24 and June 26, 1916, and harvested a good crop of beans which tested all right for seed. I once planted Low's Champion beans June 10, which were canned August 7, showing how little time they require.

Squash—I planted an acre of Boston Marrow squash June 25, 1916. Part of them were drowned out but the rest made an abundant crop.

On July 9, 1916 I went through a piece of sweet corn that came up pretty scattering on account of wet weather and put Boston Marrow squash into the vacant places. I got quite a lot of squash suitable for canning. No matter how good the fall the sun runs too low for best results with squash, but what I got was worth while.

Potatoes—On June 26, 1916, I found a bag of little pig potatoes in the barn, all swiveled and looking worthless. Having a lot of plowed land that had been too wet to plant before, I planted them whole and harvested better than an average crop. I once grew a good crop of potatoes from a planting July 10.

Cucumbers—I once had an acre of pickling cucumbers all destroyed by bugs. I planted them over July 4 and harvested a big crop in October. One other year I had two acres killed by frost August 27. You never can tell what Maine weather will do.

Try Again

I have given these experiences hoping to encourage some to make a last effort to grow food. Seed is the greatest hitch. I believe the Public Safety Committee of each town should take immediate action towards locating whatever seed may be left and try to have it used.

FOREMAN, JUST LIKE HIS BIG ENGINES, MUST BE IN CONDITION ALL THE TIME

A round house foreman in a busy terminal like Bangor cannot afford to become "out of condition." His work is so exacting that every minute he is on duty he must be strictly on his toes, and he must be able to think and act quickly, and he must never tire while he has work to do.

Frank Haynes of Bangor, foreman of one of the roundhouses there found that out some time ago. He also found out that he was feeling badly at frequent intervals and he could not understand what was wrong. Mr. Haynes has a little story of his own to tell about this that will be of interest to many men and women here who perhaps are feeling bad and wondering just what is wrong.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and was troubled continually with dizzy spells," Mr. Haynes stated as he started this remarkable story to the Tanlac Man.

"There were any number of things that I wanted to eat, and that I felt as if I should eat in order to keep up my strength, but I knew there was no use of my doing it, for my stomach could not digest it and I would have terrible spells of gas, dizzy spells, and I came to the conclusion that my stomach needed a thoro overhauling."

"Yes, the stomach is almost like the huge engines you look over," said the Tanlac Man. "It must be kept in condition for the day's run just as your big iron and steel horses. A stomach out of condition is just as serious as a fast train with a bad engine."

"Well," continued Mr. Haynes, "I started out to correct that bad stomach I tried a number of things without any result and one afternoon I noticed a piece in one of the local papers. This article fitted me exactly and I immediately got a bottle of Tanlac.

"Before I finished this one bottle I noticed a great change and now my stomach is almost like new. I can eat and digest most anything and I am no longer troubled with the gas and dizzy spells that I used to have. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Tanlac as the greatest medicine on the market. It has done wonders for me and I am sure that it will help others equally as much."

Tanlac now is being specially introduced in Norway at F. P. Stone's drug store. There is a Tanlac agent in every Maine town. Nearby Tanlac agents are South Paris, C. H. Howard; Harrison, Eugene Tanney; Bridgton, F. E. Stevens; Waterford, L. R. Rounds; East Waterford, R. E. Pinkham; West Paris, S. T. White.

Passing of Nathan Sanborn

In the passing on of Nathan Sanborn, one of the finest men in Maine has gone. Mr. Sanborn had lived in West Baldwin nearly all of his long life of 80 years and has left one of the cleanest, purest records possible for one to leave. Such a memory is to be prized far above money. His vast business has brought him in contact with men all over New England and every one speaks in the highest terms of Mr. Sanborn.

His home life was ideal. He was never happier than when his spacious home was filled with guests and he and the other members of his family were dispensing true genial hospitality. Since the death of Mrs. Sanborn twelve years ago the home has been presided over by Mr. Sanborn's two daughters, (Annie) Mrs. Wm. Lord and Martha, who have been most devoted to their father.

Mr. Sanborn has been very strong and active in fact his endurance and agility has been wonderful until within six months, when he began to fail in strength. Mr. Sanborn will be greatly missed, not only in his own home town where he has been a tower of strength, but all over Maine.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the home. Rev. James F. Albion of Portland assisted by Rev. Mr. Knowles, had charge and both in their remarks, plainly expressed the high esteem in which Mr. Sanborn was held and the satisfaction to have left such a rich heritage for those near and dear to him.

Relatives and friends were present from Massachusetts and all over Maine. The large house was taxed to its utmost capacity. The floral display was one of the most extensive ever seen at a private funeral and was a mute expression of the love the numerous friends had for Mr. Sanborn. He was always ready to assist when opportunity offered.

Mr. Sanborn's wife was Augusta Tarbox of Denmark, sister of W. H. and W. R. Tarbox of Fryeburg.

NORWAY HIGH GRADUATION

Norway Opera House was thronged Thursday evening, June 14, when the Norway High school graduates presented the last class exercises before an official release by the diploma.

The stage was prettily decorated with ferns and apple blossoms. Steps with rails and a small arch on the right, through which the speakers made their exit, were covered with apple blossoms. The class motto in green and white, "Press on and prove the pilgrim hope of youth", formed a long span across the opening below the drop curtain.

Seated on either side of the stage were the school committee, Judge W. F. Jones, Dr. L. Hall Trufant and Hugh Pendexter, Supt. T. C. Morrill, Principal Percival E. Hathaway and his assistants.

Hugh Pendexter, Jr. marshalled the twenty-three graduates to their places on the right of the hall, they being:

Frances Theodora Bartlett
Adna Stearns Buck
Evelyn Abbie Chandler
Raymond Hartford Evirs
Mary Louise Gammon
Leslie Edwin Gibson
Paul Franklin Hosmer
Emugene Isabel Hunt
Katherine Hunt Jones
Peter William Klain (deceased)
Willard Ray Lebroke
Martha Virginia Mixer
Mildred Elizabeth Noyes
Hugh Pendexter, Jr.
Esther Persis Pike
Bessie Gertrude Pottle
Florence Easter Russell
Bertha Sessions
Louise Upton Sheldon
Ruth Smith
Leona Mabelle Sloan
Stephen Elven Spofford
June Tracy
Wesley Ervin Tucker

The class were preceded by two flower girls, Nellie Skinner and Elizabeth Bartlett, both freshmen.

After a prayer by Rev. Robert J. Bruce of the Congregational church, Martha Virginia Mixer delivered the salutatory. Each member of the class can be likened to the youngest son of a fabled king, who received a casket holding treasure seeds, that when planted, produced a hundred fold and fed starving cities. So each has been acquiring a knowledge that when put account will bear fruit generously, and like the imprisoned seedlet blossom to great things.

"American Folk Songs" by Frances Theodora Bartlett was a fine analysis of folk lore and its meaning as produced in the musical expressions of the American Indian, the Negro melodies, the German-American and other hyphenated races.

Hugh Pendexter, Jr. delivered a strong essay, "America the Glorious". The blessings of freedom, the wonderful resources and our latent possibilities were convincingly brought out.

"The Bravest Battles" by Emugene Isabel Hunt was not an exposition of modern warfare or carnage, but a story dealing with mighty struggles in the laboratory or the hospital. Over Mission fields or deep beneath the earth's crust, anywhere a battle is being waged for human lives or for precious souls.

Leslie Edwin Gibson, president of the class offered an interesting narrative in "Class History", purporting to have been found in a metal box found about the High school ruins in 1927, after a German invasion of Oxford County. Important events concerning the thirty freshmen that entered the high school in 1913 were wittingly chronicled. Their rides, studies, social gatherings, exhibitions and plays with important business matters of the senior year were faithfully recorded. The historian payed their deceased soldier boy, Peter W. Klain, Co. D, 2nd Me. Infantry, a fine tribute when he said "Just as our last term was coming to an end, an event happened which saddened the whole school; this was the death of Peter Klain. He was one of the brightest, cleanest and most popular fellows in school. He was prominent in athletics and all other school activities. Toward the close of the year he felt that he ought to enlist. While serving his country nobly and well, he was killed. The memory of our soldier lad will long remain with us".

The personalities were interesting character studies and show the class to be a pleasing blending of grave and gay, pluggers and easy travelers, staid missionaries and actresses.

A brief analysis disclosed the prominent characteristic in each member. The athletes, Evirs, Hosmer and Lebroke; book worms, the Misses Jones, Mixer and Sloan; the mathematician, Spofford; the Misses Bartlett, Russell and Gammon were the triumvirate, "they plan and execute the fall of many innocent creatures"; Tucker is the physcian, in that he discovered that the Northern lights are caused by friction; Esther Pike, the idealist and dreamer; Pendexter, the chemist, who was proficient in the manufacture of hydrogen sulphide gas, incidentally driving the class from the laboratory; Bessie Pottle, ("Old Bess") the leading lady; Buckie, the shoe man, not easily led astray; Ruth Smith, he did not propose to tell why she was noted, for the simple reason he did not know; Evelyn Chandler, the girl scientist, being the only girl who braved the mysteries of chemistry and physics; the Misses Sheldon and Sessions, members of the Senior year, fond of the good times; Mildred Noyes was a question, probably the "Old Maid" of the class; June Tracy, the school marm; Emugene Hunt, the giddy and fastidious member.

The statistics of the class are interesting, the combined brain power being 23,000 c. c. or an average of 1000 c. c. for each small head; muscular activity or ability to work, 165,000 foot pounds per minute, or equivalent to 5 horsepower; total height 115 feet or about equal to the height of the Opera house tower; combined weight, one and one-half tons.

"American Humor" given by Florence Easter Russell, was an essay dealing with prominent humorists whose writings and readings have become a standard of wit, bringing cheer into this prosy old world.

Mary Louise Gammon's essay "Luna" was a description of the moon as gleaned from fable and history, its supposed influence on human affairs in war, in religion and in rustic love matches. Later day superstitions that led the innocent luminary responsible for drought or storm; sweltering heat or zero blizzard; the potency of medicine and the increase or failure of crops were brought out clearly.

"Americanism", (Lodge) was an oration well given by Paul Franklin Hosmer, being a plea for the true American spirit to be shown by all so called "hyphens" of every race represented in the great International strife.

Esther Persis Pike gave the class prophecy in rhyme and bestowed gifts appropriate to each member's future occupation or present aspirations

Frances Bartlett, who would keep home and business, wed a noble man, and win fame through art, was presented with a little black apron; Adna Buck, a little toy parrot with a limber tongue to assist him in his business career; Emugene Hunt, a small cross, for her work as a missionary; Hugh Pendexter, a little typewriter, on which to write his poems and stories, as his handwriting looked "like many scratchy blots"; Florence Russell and Ruth Smith, two canisters of tea, a solace in their lonliness in their old maid's home, as great suffragettes; Evelyn Chandler, a pair of pincers, as she is to be a dentist; in memory of Peter Klain, the song, "I Love My U. S. A."; Louise Sheldon, a little ladder, to help climb in the many fields she will compete in; June Tracy, a toy submarine, as she will be a spy for the U. S. A.; Wesley Tucker, a coin, as a starter as a Wall Street millionaire; Mildred Noyes, a booklet on feeding chidren, as she will be blest with eleven, "seeing she's so fond of them"; Steven Spofford, monster vial of pills, to cure his patients ills when he's an M. D.; Leona Sloan, a small pair of socks, (for a gentleman) as a reminder of the one "who made her heart to swim"; Paul Hosmer, a small notebook, in which to keep his dates when he is president; Bertha Sessions, vanity case, to use when she is a great actress; Virginia Mixer, picture of N. H. S., a souvenir on which to look when she is a great lawyer; William Lebroke, miniature airship, to help in the world of aviation; Mary Gammon, nest of chicks, tokens of prosperity when she is living on the farm; Bessie Pottle, little cupid, the belle of the class, a specialist in breaking hearts; Leslie Gibson, miniature bread mixer, for use in his bachelor estate; Katherine Jones, a torch which with "star-like rays, reveals thy noble thoughts and high ideals."

A vocal solo, Who is Silvia (Schubert) by Ruth Smith, Ruth Akers accompanist, was finely rendered. Bertha Sessions recited "The Highwayman", (Alfred Noyes) in a satisfactory manner showing ability in voice control and dramatic art.

In the valedictory by Katherine Hunt Jones, the lives of the members were likened to a germ in the tiny pine seed that finds lodgement in moist earth and bursts from its coat. Watered by the rains and warmed with the sun's rays, it grows steadily, often against adverse conditions, to a sturdy tree, a symbol of strength. The story of the pine has the same applicaton to one's latent possibilities. A seed has been sown, the development follows during the coming years. The message to undergraduates was, "Seize every opportunity that lies in your path from day to day and make the most of it so that you will be able to offer a strong body and well-equipped mind to your nation's and the world's needs. Like the pine, let us stand straight and grow strong as we earnestly strive to 'press on and prove the pilgrim hope of youth.' "

Supt. True C. Morrill addressed the class briefly, expressing his satisfaction at the school work accomplished during the four years. He wished them success wherever they might go, and presented the diplomas which breathed good will from teachers and committee. By request of the class Principal Percival E. Hathaway responded when Peter W. Klain's name was called, and received the diploma. Supt. Morrill also awarded the twenty-five dollar Don Seitz prize to Katherine H. Jones, who has held the highest rank during the course. Virginia Mixer was but a fraction of one point behind.

The class ode was written by Esther Pike and the music by Frances Bartlett. This was a tuneful combination and well rendered by the graduates.

Kimball's orchestra, eleven pieces, furnished excellent concert selections during the evening.

Because of a vote taken some weeks ago, no flowers were presented. The white gowns were plain and exercises simple. The commencement ball was omitted in memory of Peter Klain.

Norway Grange

Saturday, June 16th, was an epoch in the history of Norway Grange. Captain U. S. G. Abbott with Ruth Noble and Minnie Upton as head committee assisted in every way possible by his loyal helpers, served a dinner to Captain Eva Jackson and her loyal helpers in the contest. The members that partook of the bountiful feast registered three hundred and fifty.

During the dinner hour, a pleasing feature was introduced, in that Captain Eva Jackson presented "Judge" A. E. Morse a fine gold mounted fountain pen, from the members of Norway grange as a token of appreciation of his efficient services during the contest. In her presentation, Captain Jackson paid a pleasing tribute to Captain Abbott, who had proved such a good loser; admonished and delightfully commended "Judge" Morse in which was mingled some good "advice"; but carrying throughout a vein of keen appreciation and good fellowship which voiced the sentiments of the entire membership of Norway grange.

Brother Morse, although taken completely by surprise, in his acceptance responded in such a sincere, heartfelt manner that it gave an added pleasure to the bestowers of the gift. At 2 P. M. all repaired to the upper hall where "Davis' Orchestra" opened the festivities with a short selection, followed by the order of dances which were much enjoyed by all. Capt. Abbott proved an ideal host, being seemingly everywhere present, and seeing that no one failed to receive the attention due them. Among the members present was a member who has enjoyed many birthdays, "aunt" Sarah (Rice) Millett, bearing the "palm" as she will be ninety years "young" on the 6th of December next.

All were glad to have Prof. George A. Yeaton present. It was an exceedingly enjoyable occasion and here's "Three cheers and a Tiger" for Captain Abbott and Captain Jackson.

Saturday afternoon, June 23, children's day will be observed by Norway Grange. This is one of the pleasing standard features of the Order, when all the children of the patrons are welcome little guests of the home grange or in whatever grange precinct they happen to be. A special treat will be served the children by Sisters Ella Perry, Annie Brown, Beryl Russell, Minnie Haskell, Grace Dunn, Hattie Brown, Adelaide Young, Virgalyn Murdock, Vesta Smith and Winnie Hall, Brothers W. S. Pierce and W. O. Perry.

In turn the children will present a pleasing program of songs, recitations, marches, pantomimes and chorus singing, under the auspices of the committee given above. Meeting opens at 1:30 P. M. after a short business session, an open meeting for the children will follow.

G. W. Carter and H. L. Libby have decided that their beans belong to the Submarine variety; as, in spite of repeated submergings, they still live and give a cheerful aspect to the garden.

MOTHERHOOD WOMAN'S JOY

Suggestions to Childless Women.

Among the virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the ability to correct sterility in the cases of many women. This fact is well established as evidenced by the following letter and hundreds of others we have published in these colums.

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—"I want other women to know what a blessing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been to me. We had always wanted a baby in our home but I was in poor health and not able to do my work. My mother and husband both urged me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, my health improved and I am now the mother of a fine baby girl and do all my own house work."—Mrs. ALLIA B. TIMMONS, 216 Almond St., Poplar Bluff, Mo.

In many other homes, once childless, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong

DAM HELD TREMENDOUS FLOOD

The heavens opened Saturday afternoon, releasing a torrent that fell steadily until 9 Sunday evening. The lake rose to the highest point known and Norway village got a scare.

Pennesseewassee Lake a trifle short of high water mark from the Tuesday down pour, responded early Sunday and before 2 o'clock in the afternoon was rising rapidly. Bert Melvin of the C. B. Cummings Sons Co. and Howard B. Young for the Oxford Electric Co. got busy with men and teams carting bags of sand, which were made into a long dam. This extended from a point near Mrs. George Cole's residence to the gate house. Another was built on the Water street side near the saw mill. Water flowed over the banks, threatening the box shop and still more bags were used below the highway on Bridge street near the Cummings Co.'s new office. The mill yard was flooded and a boom was strung to keep several cords of bolts from leaving the premises.

Water isolated the boat houses and was more than two feet deep in the public way to Capt. Sampson's landing. George Stephenson waded to his house through the Cole field. Many times the stream forced its way through the barriers on the Cole lot and trickled down toward Main street. A regular torrent found an outlet through Ordway Grove.

It was rumored early Sunday evening that the dam could not possibly hold later than midnight, as the pond then was 6 inches above high water and rising an inch in sixty minutes. This caused almost a stampede along Main street, many seriously considered vacating for Pike Hill until the danger had passed. Watchmen with shovels patrolled the embankment during the night and it is reported that in case of immediate danger, the fire alarm was to be sounded as a warning. The Boy Scouts were held at their meeting place during the day for instant duty if needed.

About 2:30 Monday morning the climax had been reached, registering 6 inches above the high mark made at the last freshet, and 8 inches above all previously known records. It dropped only 4 inches during the day with clear skies.

The damage in the corporation cannot be estimated correctly. Public highways suffered severely and citizens who planted on low lands near the bog or near the river have had everything destroyed. Water flowed freely over Greenleaf Avenue between Otto Schnuer's and the bridge, also completely covered the road to the depth of several feet from Timothy Heath's to Percy H. Nevers.' John Cullinan's residence was nearly surrounded and no pedestrian could reach him over the road until Monday forenoon. The meadow between Turkey Hill and the village was one great inland sea, water flowing over the Rumford road in several places and backing up toward the railroad to Herbert Rich's premises. Volumes of water entered the C. B. Cummings & Sons Co. fire room, extinguishing the boiler fires early Sunday afternoon. Monday the fire grates were three inches under water.

So serious was the situation that dynamiting Buck's dam to relieve the pressure was considered, until survey showed that the back streets would be flooded in such a case. Tannery brook could not begin to handle the great flowage from that big water shed.

Anna Brooks, who is employed in the office at the T. A. Houston Co., Auburn, was in town attending the graduation exercises.

The "Service First" hop to be given in the Norway Opera House, June 28 at 8 p. m., by the young ladies of the local telephone exchange is to be a Red Cross benefit. The "Hello Girls" are hustling off the tickets and all things point to a big affair. Shaw of South Paris will furnish music.

Mt. Hope Rebekah Lodge No. 58 have received the 5x8 wool bunting flag ordered some time ago and it is displayed in their lodge room.

COMMENTS ON COLLOSAL STATUE

By W. W. Maxim

Having read the account of the colossal statue found in Burmah in your issue of June 1, I thought a few comments might interest some of your readers.

People worship worldly things to-day that bring out the same faculties as did those images made by men's hands in the long ago. They have never got their minds high enough to worship the true God.

Some fifty years ago or more I heard it remarked by a teacher of considerable experience that education was going to reform the world. He said it would do away with crime, sickness and all human ills. Millions of dollars have been spent since that time on elegant buildings, text books and high salaried teachers. What is the result? Crime has been increasing at a terrible rate ever since. Murder, theft, exortion, jealousy, divorce, deception, cheating and all their attendant evils face us at every turn. Compare the daily papers of fifty years ago with that of to-day. It is plain to be seen that people have not learned the right lessons, if they have they have failed to profit by them.

Germany has long boasted of its advancement in art and science, worshipped its ideals, trusted in its skill and ability. The people have not learned the meaning nor the importance of the first commandment nor of this short sentence from God spoken through one of His holy prophets "Be still and know that I am God." Lack of faith is not the only reason why the prayers of people are not answered. Read Psalm 66, verse 18.

WATERFORD

Waterford Flag Day

The annual exercises for the Waterford schools were held at the church at the Flat on June 15th. All the schools took part in the program. A patriotic address was delivered on the object of "Patriotism and the Flag." Many interesting facts concerning the flag and statistical facts concerning the Civil War were interestingly told. The orator was a native son of Waterford, John Munroe now of Mechanic Falls. He lived for 34 years in the town since which he has lived until recently in California. He served as drummer boy in the 12th Maine Regiment during the Civil War.

Miss Gage, a summer resident of Waterford, spoke in the interests of the Red Cross work, at the close of the program. She told of the need for material by the organization and an especial need for clothing. She offered a prize of $5 for the best pair of knit stockings, to be made by any four girls of sixteen years of age or under, in town before August first. She also offered to furnish the yarn for the same.

A picnic dinner was eaten in the Masonic Hall and many games were participated in during the afternoon. The weather man repented of the harsh and threatening weather of the early morning and forenoon and granted a pleasant afternoon which added much to the pleasures of the day looked forward to by the children all the year.

On Sunday, it being Red Cross Day, the pastor gave a talk on the work of the great organization and afterward a committee was appointed to form plans for soliciting this part of the town for funds for the Red Cross Work.

On Monday, Rev. G. W. Sias was called to Ellisburg, N. Y., by the death of his father, W. H. H. Sias, M. D. Mr. Sias will be gone over Sunday, June 24, which is to be observed as Children's Sunday at the church, therefore the Christening service will necessarily be put over to July 1.
